

Remember Me Group

A self advocacy project using reminiscence.

We use themed Memory Boxes with photos, smells, music and objects from the past and Life Story Books helping people with dementia reconnect to their former selves and share that with others.

We work in partnership with staff using a person centred approach treating individuals with dignity and respect

Cloverleaf Advocacy has been supporting people to speak up and be listened to since 1995. The Kirklees Social Care Advocacy Service is free, independent and confidential.

How do the groups benefit people ?

Builds confidence
Promotes communication
Enables people to tell their story.
Helps people make choices
Builds friendships
Treats people as individuals
Develops sense of group belonging

Both groups complete a book for the individual to keep, recording what they find out about themselves. These are ideal for use in care planning, decision making and reviews.

Being Me Group

A self advocacy project for adults with learning disabilities.

We support people to recognise they have choices in their lives.

We have fun encouraging communication and exploring feelings using drama, art, storytelling and music .

We support people to say what is important to them.

Together with staff we promote inclusion, independence, choice and control.
